

Locomotives at Anshan Numata Machinery Company, Anshan, Manchuria

Description

Locomotives lined up on railroad tracks in yard at Anshan Numata Machinery Company. This plan built narrow gauge steam locomotives and dump cars used for mining and construction work. The shops were partially stripped by Chinese Communists and mobs. The Soviets removed 300 tons of unfabricated steel but left eight new locomotives untouched. Photograph taken during the U.S. Reparations Mission. Edwin Pauley was the U.S. Ambassador on the Allied Reparations Committee from 1945-47 (the committee that assessed the reparations the Axis powers could afford to pay the victors).

Date(s)

ca.
June 1946

Accession Number 2009-629

4x4 inches      Black & White

Related Collection Pauley, Edwin W. Papers

Keywords Railroads      Reparations

HST Keywords China - Manchuria

Rights The Library is unaware of any copyright claims to this item; use at your own risk.

Note: If you use this image, rights assessment and attribution are your responsibility.

Harry S. Truman Library & Museum.

Attention media: Please make note of this item's accession number. Print out this page and retain it for your permissions records before downloading this image file for possible publication. Library staff cannot sign permissions forms or provide additional paperwork. The Library charges no usage fees for downloaded images.